MELLEN SENDS HOT ONE TO SPRINGFIELD MAYOR ON RIVER FRONT CASE

Springfield, Oct. 23.—Mayor Sander-owned by the railroad to the city for son, in the meeting of the river front $933,000. advisory commission yesterday afternoon read the letter which he received several days ago from President Charles Sanger Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company in reply to a communication which the mayor forwarded to Mr. Mellen after the meeting of the river front commission Oct. 9, when the New Haven road failed to be represented after it was understood that it would be.

resented after it was understood that it would be.

According to the understanding of the commission E. H. McHenry, first vice-president and chief engineer of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad was to be present in that meeting and present plans of the road for tunnelling its tracks from the Longmeadow line to the tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad, Mr. McHenry failed to appear, but a letter was received from J. H. Benton in Boston, the railroad's attorney, disclaiming any responsibility for the plans which had been placed in the hands of William Barclay Parsons of New York city, Springfield's advisory expert engineer, who was present at boy rather than that the boy should be sacrificed because he cannot be made to fit the system. I am today as much as I ever was, in favor of a male principal for the upper grades. The view-point of a man is so different from that of a woman. Boys in High school need the influence of a man's thought and the girl who is to carry on studies elsewhere, or who is to enter upon a business career, will be all the better fitted for having come under the influence of a man's mind before meeting outside the school room the practical lessons of life. On Thursday I tried to get to such a proposition but I was not willing to be made a party to any action of the Town whereby anyone should be wronged especially one who could not be promised to speak in self-Gefense.

GOMPERS FIGURES

Samuel Gompers, and the organization of which he is president, the American Federation of Labor, figured prominently yesterday in the course of the trial of the $240,000 damages suit of D. E. Loewe of Danbury against about 200 union hatters in this state. During the examination of Secretary Connolly of the Danbury union, allusion was made to a conference held in Washington with Mr. Gompers and the executive council of the Federation of Labor. Soon afterwards Attorney Labor. Soon afterwards Attorney Davenport for the plaintiffs, began reading extracts from articles in the American Federationist in which reference was made to a number of boy-cotts being pushed against non-union

CAR SHORTAGE ON NEW HAVEN ROAD

As indicating the return of better industrial times in southern New England, the returns of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company show that at the present time they have as idle cars 29 flat cars, 80 coal cars and 18 refrigerator cars, while there is a shortage of 442 of box cars, thus indicating a net car shortage on the whole system of 315 cars.

As regards the relations of the company to foreign cars, the returns for the middle of October show 16,489 forelgn cars upon the system, while 13,563 cars of the New Haven system are upon outside roads, showing a debtor balance against the company of 2,926, as compared with a debtor balance in 1908, at the same time, of 4,457 cars, of 16,188 cars in 1907 and of 12,259 cars in 1906. This heavy diminution of the car balance against the company during the last three years is due to the large purchase of new equipment bought and delivered during the last two years, all of which is now in use, and also in part to new arrangements made with the outside companies for the use of New Haven rolling stock. As compared with the year 1907, the last previous year of prosperity, the net gain of the New Haven company in the matter of car payments to outside companies has been about a million and a outside companies. lion and a quarter dollars a year. The significant feature of the returns, however, is its index of returning prosperity in New England, as shown by the full employment of practically all the company's freight cars, which by the last official report numbered 34,-

Charcoal Lozenges Powerful Absorbents

Offensive Breath and Stomach Gases Cannot Exist When They Are Used

Charcoal, by virtue of its porou nature, takes up gases mechanically just as a sponge takes up water. Its capacity in this respect is in proportion to the number and fineness of its porce. pores. Charcoal made from poplar beechwood, vegetable ivory, cocoa nut shells and willow-wood, is a com pact, heavy substance, having a me-tallic luster, the pores being quite in-

Chemical tests of various kinds per-formed by expert chemists have re-vealed the fact that charcoal made from willow wood, is not only abso-lutely harmless, but that it is by far the most powerful absorbent of all kinds of gases. Certain other woods mentioned above, are used by some manufacturers in making charcoal, and besides not being half as effective in absorbing stomach-gases, have also been found to be positively harmful to the digestive system.
Willow-wood charcoal is, then, the very best for the purpose of absorb-ing excessive gas of the stomach, reing excessive gas of the stomach, removing intestinal flatus, and purifying foul breath. Charcoal to be effective against gastric flatulence must be introduced among the gases of the stomach in the same state as when fresh from the crucible. The means of effecting this is to compress them into soluble lozenges, so that after being dissolved in the mouth and swallowed, the charcoal is set free," and at once begins its work of oxidizing at once begins its work of oxidizing and absorbing foul gases, and also through its antiseptic properties, of purifying the entire allmentary tract, It is definitely known that the absorbent and cleansing action of charcoal is protracted and continued through the intestinal system as well as in the stomach, and it proves beneficial there also.

In STUART'S CHARCOAL LOZ-ENGES we have a gas-absorbing rem-edy which readily takes precedence over all others. The charcoal used in them is the very best that can be obtained. They are composed of the finest young willow-wood, converted into charcoal by the special, carbon-izing Stuart Process, and before being compressed into Lozenges, the powdered charcoal is rendered sweet and thoroughly agreeable to the taste by being mixed with pure honey, and the result is a product equally as paiatable as candy.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges have at-tained a wide popularity among the people, millions of boxes being sold every year. They have, over and over again proven their efficiency as rapid and powerful absorbents of foul and powerful absorbents of foul stomach-gases, relieving and curing flatulence, belching, or the eructation of gases, and finally in the purification of offensive breath.
